I am grateful for these times, which may not be the best But they surely aren't the worst and I look forward to the rest I am grateful for the air which we all must share And gravity as well, even all the times I fell

Refrain:

I am grateful for the love I feel within this place And the hope that I still have for the human race I'm grateful for the days that I may still have to grace My beloved Mother Earth with the sun upon my face
